Pain Medicine Board Review Process

The pain medicine board review process is administered by the American Board of Pain Medicine (ABPM). The ABPM is a non-profit organization that was founded in 1998. The ABPM's mission is to improve the quality of pain medicine care by certifying pain medicine physicians and promoting the field of pain medicine.

To become board certified in pain medicine, physicians must meet the following requirements:

- Be a graduate of an accredited medical school
- Complete a residency in an accredited pain medicine program
- Pass the ABPM's certification examination

The ABPM's certification examination is a two-part exam. The first part of the exam is a written exam that covers the core knowledge of pain medicine. The second part of the exam is an oral exam that tests the physician's clinical skills.
