1. Paper airplane race

See who can make the paper airplane that flies the farthest. You can use any type of paper, but origami paper works best.

2. Indoor scavenger hunt

Hide objects around your house and give your friends or family clues to find them. The first person to find all the objects wins.

3. Charades

One person acts out a word or phrase while the others try to guess what it is. You can use a dictionary or thesaurus to come up with ideas.

4. Pictionary

Similar to charades, but instead of acting out words, you draw them. You can use a whiteboard, a piece of paper, or even the back of your hand.

5. Simon Says

One person gives commands, such as "Simon says touch your nose" or "Simon says jump up and down." The other players must only follow the commands that start with "Simon says." Anyone who follows a command that doesn't start with "Simon says" is out.

6. Red light, green light

One person stands with their back to the other players and calls out "Red light, green light." While they are calling out "Green light," the other players can run towards them. When they call out "Red light," the players must freeze in place. Anyone who moves while "Red light" is being called out is out.

7. Freeze dance

Put on some music and dance around. When the music stops, everyone must freeze in place. The last person to freeze is out.

8. Musical chairs

Put out one less chair than the number of players. Put on some music and have the players walk around the chairs. When the music stops, everyone must sit down in a chair. The person who doesn't get a chair is out.

9. Hot potato

Pass a small object, such as a ball or a beanbag, around a circle of players. Put on some music and have the players pass the object around. When the music stops, the person holding the object is out.

10. Pin the tail on the donkey

Draw a picture of a donkey on a piece of paper or cardboard. Cut out a tail from felt or construction paper. Blindfold the players and have them take turns trying to pin the tail on the donkey.

These are just a few of the many games you can play using everyday items. Get creative and come up with your own games too!
