RV Parks

RV parks are a great option for RVers who want to stay in a more developed campground with amenities like hookups, showers, and laundry facilities. There are many RV parks in Washington located in scenic areas, so you can enjoy the beauty of the state while still having access to convenient amenities.

Here are some of the most popular RV parks in Washington:

- Fort Stevens State Park is located on the Oregon coast and offers RV sites with full hookups, showers, and laundry facilities. The park also has a playground, picnic area, and hiking trails.
- Lake Chelan RV Park is located on the shores of Lake Chelan and offers RV sites with full hookups, showers, and laundry facilities. The park also has a swimming pool, hot tub, and boat launch.
- Mount Rainier National Park offers RV camping at Cougar Rock Campground and Ohanapecosh Campground. Both campgrounds offer RV sites with water and electric hookups, showers, and laundry facilities.
- Olympic National Park offers RV camping at Kalaloch Campground and Mora Campground. Both campgrounds offer RV sites with water and electric hookups, showers, and laundry facilities.
- Seattle/Tacoma KOA Holiday is located in the Seattle area and offers RV sites with full hookups, showers, and laundry facilities. The park also has a swimming pool, hot tub, and playground.

Campgrounds

Campgrounds are a great option for RVers who want to stay in a more rustic setting. Campgrounds typically offer fewer amenities than RV parks, but they are often located in more remote areas, so you can enjoy the peace and quiet of nature.

Here are some of the most popular campgrounds in Washington:

- Cape Disappointment State Park is located on the Washington coast and offers campsites with water and electric hookups, showers, and laundry facilities. The park also has a playground, picnic area, and hiking trails.
- Colchuck Lake Campground is located in the Alpine Lakes Wilderness Area and offers campsites with no hookups. The campground is located near Colchuck Lake, which is a popular hiking destination.
- Diablo Lake Campground is located on the shores of Diablo Lake and offers campsites with water and electric hookups, showers, and laundry facilities. The campground also has a swimming pool, boat launch, and hiking trails.
- Dosewallips State Park is located on the Hood Canal and offers campsites with water and electric hookups, showers, and laundry facilities. The park also has a playground, picnic area, and hiking trails.
- Mount Baker-Snoqualmie National Forest offers camping at a variety of campgrounds throughout the forest. Campgrounds offer a range of amenities, from primitive campsites with no hookups to developed campsites with full hookups.

How to Choose the Right RV Park or Campground

When choosing an RV park or campground, there are a few things to consider:

- Location: Where do you want to stay? Do you want to be near a city or town, or do you want to be in a more remote area?

- Amenities: What amenities are important to you? Do you need hookups, showers, and laundry facilities? Or are you okay with staying in a more primitive campground with no amenities?
- Price: How much are you willing to spend on camping? RV parks and campgrounds vary in price, so it's important to find one that fits your budget.
- Reviews: Read reviews of RV parks and campgrounds before you book your stay. This will help you get an idea of what other RVers have experienced and what to expect.

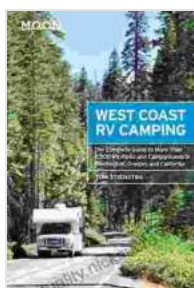

Planning Your RV Adventure

Once you've chosen an RV park or campground, it's time to start planning your RV adventure. Here are a few tips:

- Make reservations: RV parks and campgrounds book up quickly, so it's important to make reservations in advance, especially if you're traveling during peak season.
- Pack for all types of weather: Washington weather can be unpredictable, so it's important to pack for all types of weather, including rain, snow, and sun.
- Bring plenty of food and supplies: If you're staying in a remote campground, you may not have access to stores or restaurants, so it's important to bring plenty of food and supplies.
- Be prepared for wildlife: Washington is home to a variety of wildlife, so be aware of your surroundings and take precautions to avoid encounters with wild animals.

- Have fun! RVing is a great way to explore Washington and enjoy the beauty of the state. So relax, have fun, and make memories that will last a lifetime.

Washington is a beautiful state with a lot to offer RVers. From the majestic mountains of the Cascade Range to the rugged coastline of the Pacific Ocean, there are plenty of places to explore in the Evergreen State. And with over 300 RV parks and campgrounds to choose from, you're sure to find the perfect place to stay for your next RV adventure.
